

Philosophy

For optimal learning and development to occur, children need secure, consistent relationships with responsive adults. Happy Time's Teachers get to know each child as an individual and are able to interact one on one to develop warm, positive relationships. Using developmentally appropriate practices, Happy Times teaches the way that match how children develop and learn so as to promote their optimal development and learning. Teachers respect children's ideas and efforts and validate their efforts by acknowledging what they did and how they did it. Learning experiences are challenging enough to promote learning but not so challenging as to frustrate them. By observing children purposefully and regularly, teachers document what they see and hear and use this information to understand each child's development and learning better on an individual basis.

Mission

Happy Times Preschool thrives to create a warm and nurturing environment that will facilitate the best early education for your child to ensure a lifetime love of learning and a foundation for future school success.
